Principal Helmsman*

* Handicap skippers are required to list a principal helmsman on their rating certificates. While it may not be possible for any one person to steer a boat throughout a race, the principal helmsman is that person who is steering at the start of a race and on upwind legs. In a day race, any yacht which is started or steered by someone other than the principal helmsman is in violation of the N.E.M.A. Race Rules and subject to disqualification.

List Principal Helmsman

Owner Responsibility:

Owner certifies that the above information is correct. Owner understands that the N.E.M.A. race committee shall be informed in writing of any changes to the above information, and that any such change may require rating review. This rating is valid until the expiration date shown but is subject to review at any time. The owner agrees to abide by the N.E.M.A. Race Rules and to conduct him or herself in a manner reflecting courtesy and sportsmanship on the race course.
